On a day we now call Good Friday, Jesus was led to a place called Golgotha, which means "the place of the skull." It was here, on a rugged cross, that Jesus would make the ultimate sacrifice for the sins of all humanity.

As Jesus was crucified between two thieves, the sky turned dark, and the earth felt the weight of this moment. Despite the pain and suffering, Jesus looked upon the people with love and said, "Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing." This showed His endless mercy, even in His final hours.

Above His head, a sign read "King of the Jews," a title that many mocked. Yet, in this moment of great sorrow, the truth of His kingship was more evident than ever. Jesus, in His kindness, assured one of the criminals crucified with Him that they would be together in paradise that very day, showing His power to save and forgive up until the very end.

One of the most touching moments at Golgotha was when Jesus saw His mother, Mary, and the disciple John standing nearby. He entrusted Mary into John's care, showing His concern for His loved ones even as He was dying.

Jesus's final words, "It is finished," marked the completion of His mission on earth. He had given His life as a ransom for many, conquering death and sin once and for all. After this, He bowed His head and gave up His spirit, trusting God with His life and legacy.
